Hazardous Weather

Thursday High Temperatures

The Rain Chances Continue

Weather Forecast Office
El Paso, TX
Issued Jun 30, 2021 8:30 PM MDT

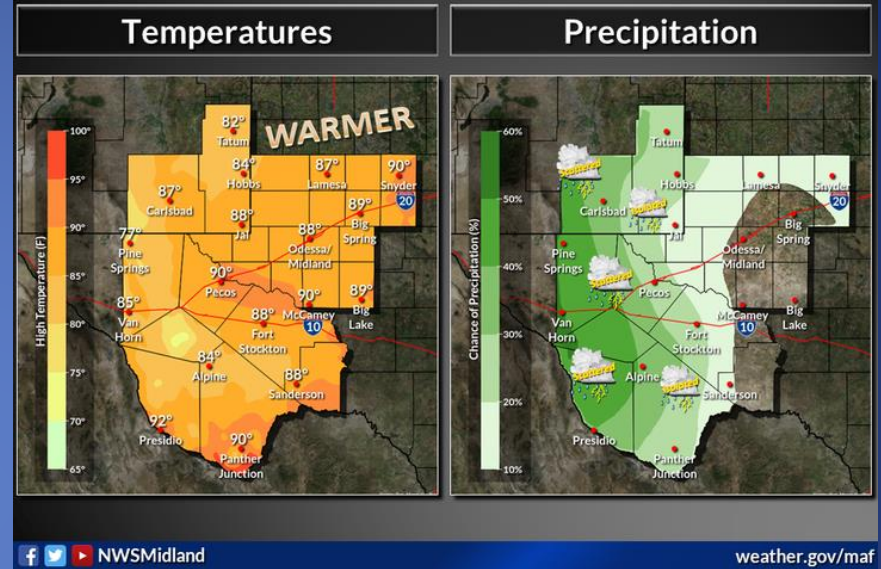

Scattered showers and storms persist into Thursday. Heavy rains could occur on top of the saturated ground, which could lead to flash flooding. The warming trend continues as we inch closer to the holiday weekend.

Today's Forecast

Scattered storms possible across the west today.

Weather Forecast Office
Midland/Odessa, TX
Issued July 1, 2021 4:37 AM CT

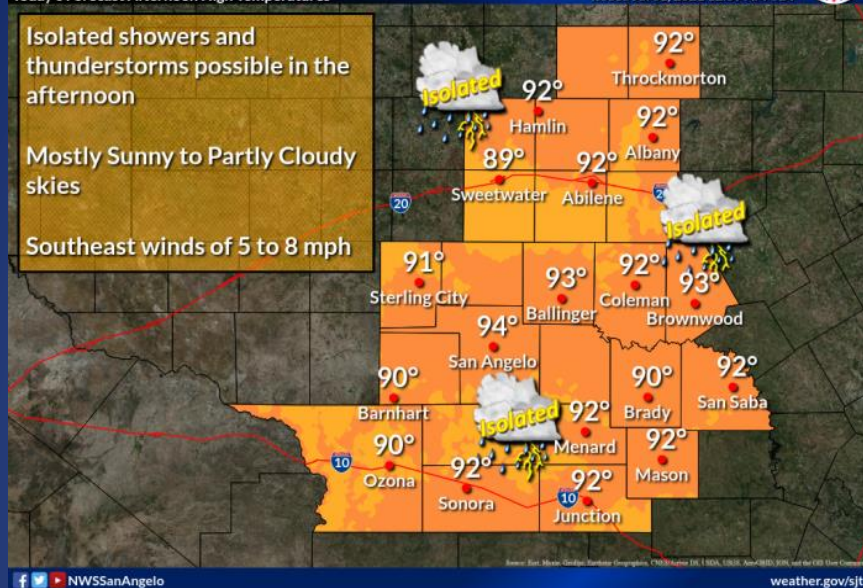

Scattered storms are possible this afternoon across western portions of the region, mainly over the higher elevations. Warmer temperatures are expected.

Hazardous Weather

Warm Today

Today's Forecast Afternoon High Temperatures

Weather Forecast Office
San Angelo, TX
Issued Jul 01, 2021 12:59 AM CDT

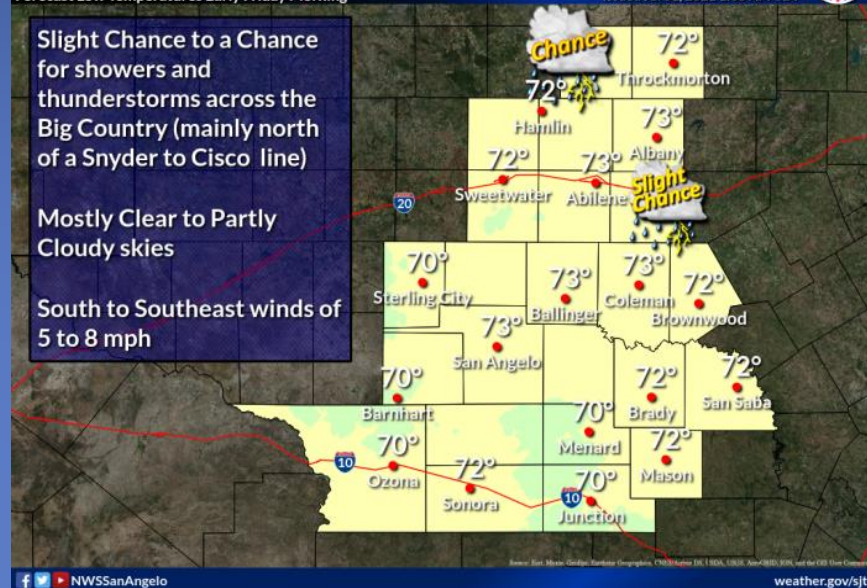

Expect it to be warm today, with highs in the 89-94 degree range and mostly sunny to partly cloudy skies. Isolated showers and storms will be possible in the afternoon.

Mild Again Tonight

Forecast Low Temperatures Early Friday Morning

Weather Forecast Office
San Angelo, TX
Issued Jul 01, 2021 1:08 AM CDT

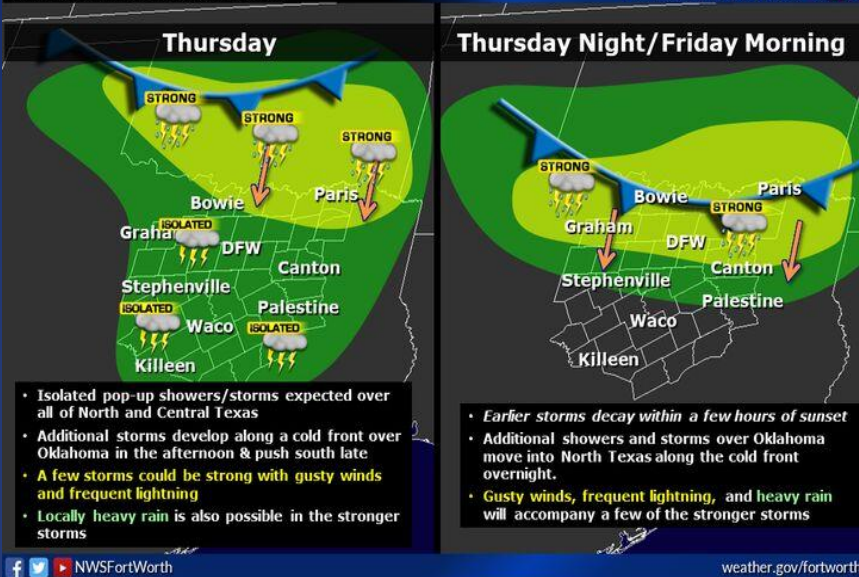

It will be another night of mild temperatures, with lows in the 69-73 degree range. There's a slight chance to chance of storms in the Big Country as a cold front approaches the region.

Hazardous Weather

Thursday Storm Chances

Weak Cold Front Approaches Overnight

Weather Forecast Office
Fort Worth, TX
Issued July 1, 2021 3:35 AM CDT

Another day of isolated pop-up showers and storms is expected today, but a cluster of storms should develop along a cold front in Oklahoma this afternoon. These storms should move south into North Texas late in the day. A brief lull in activity is expected within an hour or two of sunset, then additional storms move into the area overnight alongside a cold front. The threat for severe weather is low, but a few of the stronger storms may be capable of gusty winds, heavy rain, and frequent lightning.

Thursday

Partly Cloudy with Isolated Showers/Storms

Weather Forecast Office
Fort Worth, TX
Issued Jul 01, 2021 3:48 AM CDT

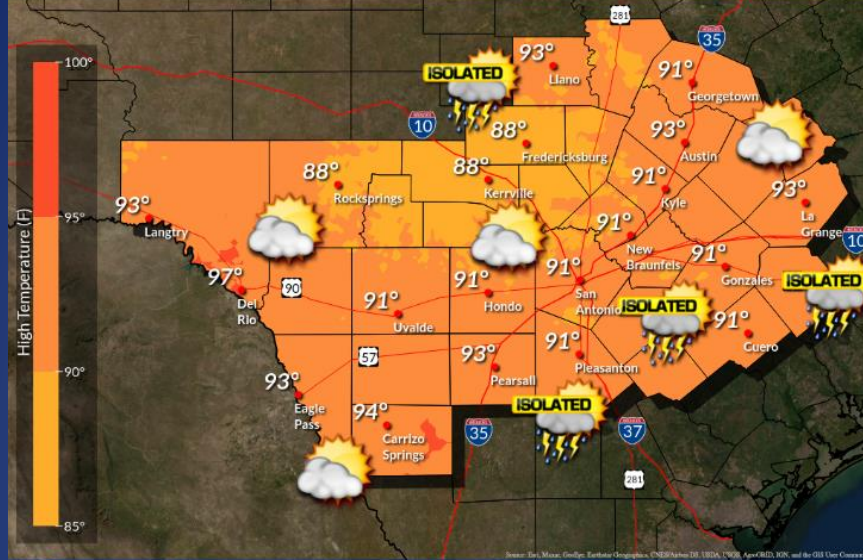

Scattered showers and perhaps an isolated thunderstorm will continue. Isolated storms are possible this afternoon across the entire region. A cluster of storms (some strong) will develop along a cold front in Oklahoma and may move into North Texas late in the afternoon. Heat index values are expected to top out in the upper 90s to low 100s. Winds should be out of the south with speeds less than 10 mph through the pre-dawn hours this morning.

Hazardous Weather

Today: Hotter and Mostly Sunny

A few isolated showers/storms still possible.

Weather Forecast Office
Austin/San Antonio, TX
Issued Jul 01, 2021 4:42 AM CDT

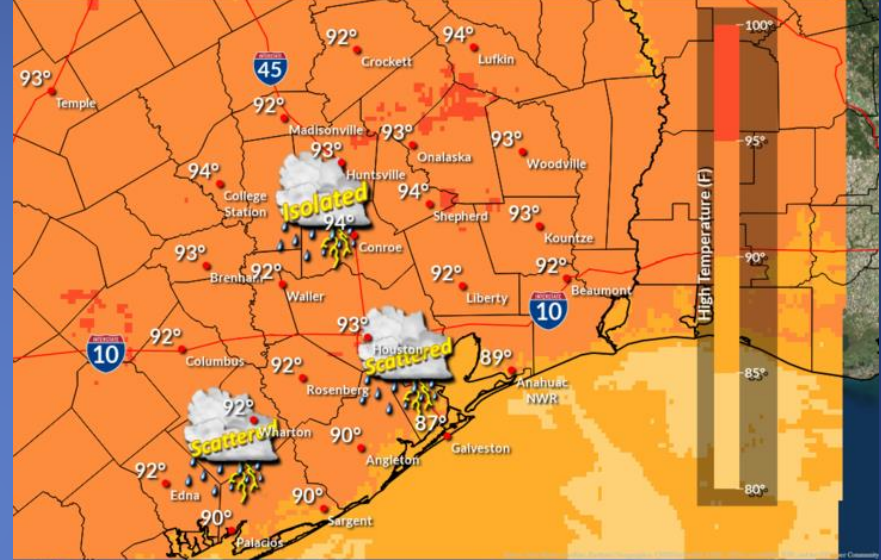

NWSSanAntonio

weather.gov/ewx

Today will generally be partly cloudy to mostly sunny for most areas with a few isolated showers and storms still possible across the Hill Country and Coastal Plains.

Forecast for today

Hazardous Weather

Today

Scattered showers and T-storms. Highs in the mid 80s to low 90s. South to southeast winds 5 mph. Issued Jul 01, 2021 7:16 AM CDT

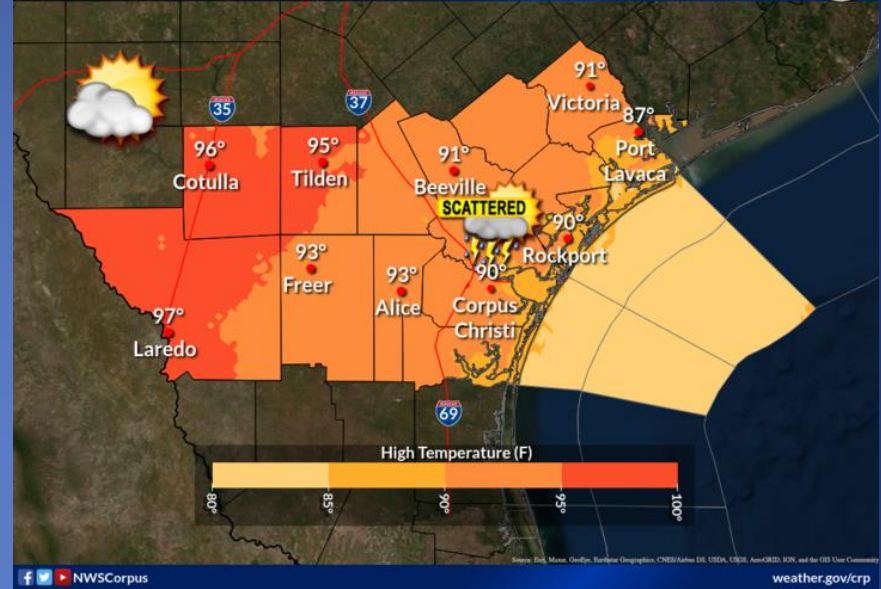

Scattered showers and thunderstorms will be possible as moisture from the gulf and afternoon heating kick in. Highs will be in the mid 80s to low 90s with southeast to south winds at mph.

Another Warm Day Today

Scattered Thunderstorms Possible Across the East

Weather Forecast Office Corpus Christi, TX

Issued Jul 01, 2021 3:17 AM CDT

Another warm day is in store for today with much of the area in the lower to upper 90s. Scattered showers and thunderstorms will be possible today, mainly across the Coastal Bend and Victoria Crossroads.

Hazardous Weather

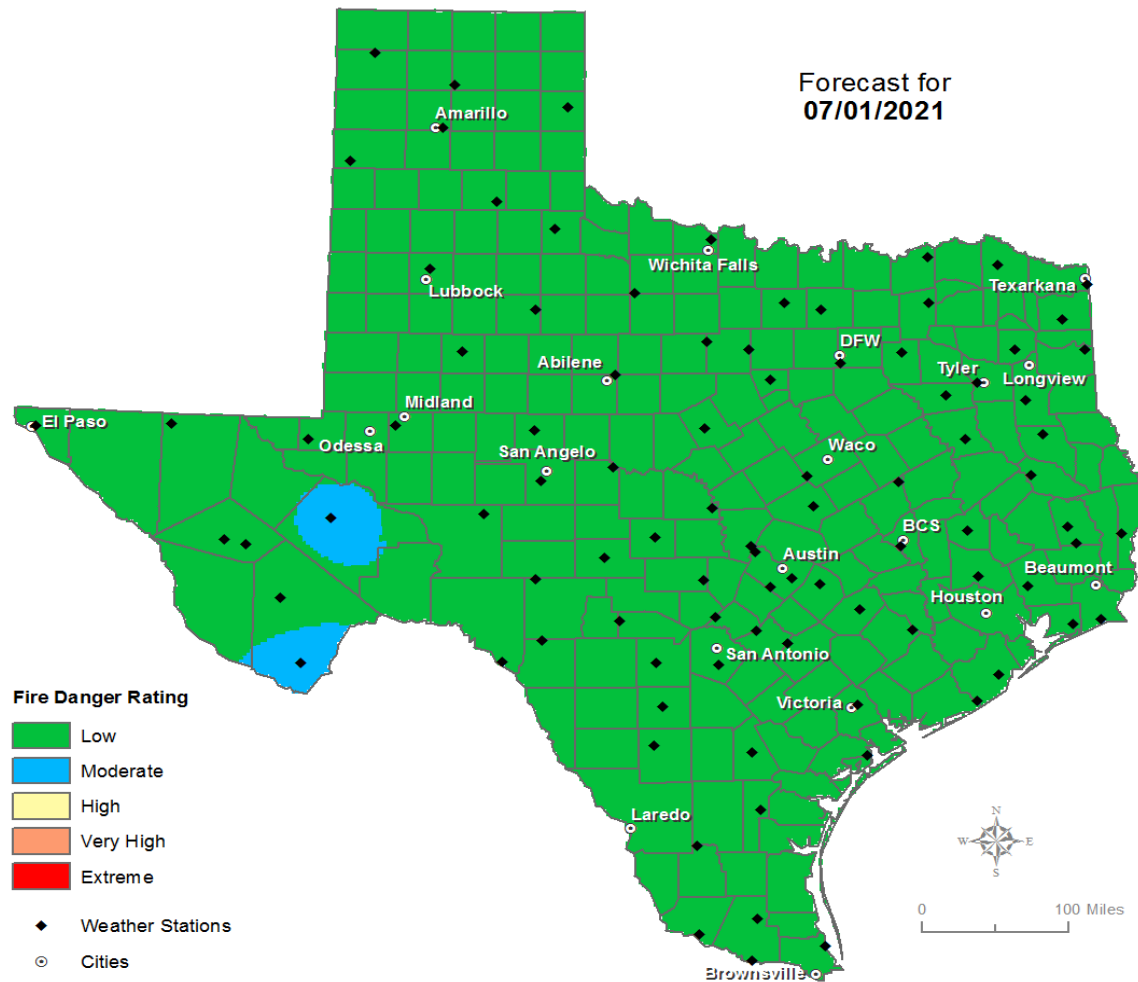

Isolated to scattered showers and thunderstorms are expected today across Deep South Texas. High temperatures today will generally range from the mid 80s at the coastline to the mid to upper 90s across the Far West. Mariners can expect light to moderate east to southeast winds and moderate Gulf seas.
